

Table of contents

I. Introduction	7
1. Issues and challenges	7
2. Current and predicted storage deployment	8
II. Why is electricity storage required?	9
1. Benefits	9
2. Range of services	9
III. Storage technologies	13
1. Technology summaries	13
2. Technology selection	16
IV. Applications	19
1. Standalone storage projects	19
2. Co-location with generation	20

- 3. Commercial behind-the-meter applications 22
- 4. Domestic behind-the-meter applications 24
- 5. Islanded networks and micro-grids 24
- 6. Co-location with electric vehicle charging infrastructure 25
- V. Regulatory framework 27
 - 1. Overview 27
 - 2. Licensing 27
 - 3. Final consumption levies 28
 - 4. Network charging 29
 - 5. Definition of storage 30
 - 6. Disputes 32
- VI. Role of stakeholders 33
 - 1. Government 33
 - 2. Energy regulator 35
 - 3. System operators 36
 - 4. Network owners 38
 - 5. Aggregators 40
 - 6. Suppliers 41
 - 7. Generators 42
- VII. Revenue streams 43
 - 1. Revenue stacking 43
 - 2. Frequency response 45
 - 3. Provision of reserve 47

4. Black Start	50
5. Alternative system services	50
6. Energy trading	50
7. Participation in balancing market	51
8. Other revenue streams	52
VIII. Electricity export and trading agreement	53
1. Overview	53
2. Trading arrangements	54
3. Co-located projects	55
IX. Import electricity supply agreement	57
1. Agreement structure	57
2. Pricing	58
X. Grid connection arrangements	61
1. Key considerations	61
2. Existing connections	63
3. Active network management	63
XI. Construction contract	65
1. Contractual structure	65
2. Key issues	66
XII. Operations agreement	69
1. Structure and key provisions	69
2. Additional considerations	70
XIII. Land agreement	71
1. Land requirement	71

- 2. Key considerations 72
- XIV. Permitting 75
 - 1. Consent to construct and operate 75
 - 2. Producer responsibility 76
 - 3. Wider environmental and health and safety requirements 76
- XV. Corporate arrangements 79
 - 1. Corporate structures 79
 - 2. M&A activity 80
 - 3. Investors 81
- XVI. Financing arrangements 83
 - 1. Overview 83
 - 2. Key challenges 84
 - 3. Key issues 84
 - 4. Key financing terms 88
- XVII. Conclusion 91
- Notes 92
- About the author 95
- About Globe Law and Business 96